Depending on your loved ones needs, Comfort Keepers can provide in-home care for just three hours per visit or provide full-time, 24/7 in-home care. Through our 24-hour in-home care, we coordinate caregiving responsibilities into shifts to provide consistent uninterrupted around-the-clock care. This offers seniors and their families' full-time peace of mind. This type of continuous in-home care service is ideal for clients who are at risk when unattended, such as seniors with Alzheimer's and dementia related conditions.

Respite In-Home Care

Caregiving can be rewarding and often strengthens bonds within a family. At the same time, caregiving can be demanding amidst life's other responsibilities. Family caregivers and those in their care can benefit from a little time off now and then. That is why Comfort Keepers offers respite caregiving. This service can be scheduled as needed to provide family caregivers time to run errands, go shopping or get some much-needed rest.

Alzheimer's and Dementia In-Home Care

We understand the difficulties that come with providing Alzheimer's and dementia care for your loved one in their home. We understand that this can be both a physically and emotionally draining tasks for family members and we can help ease the burden. Our professionally trained staff can provide you with the specialized care that your loved one needs to cope with Alzheimer's disease and dementia.

Transitional In-Home Care

The time immediately after a hospital or rehabilitation facility stay can be critical to the health and recovery of a loved one. Studies show that the lack of proper support and care following surgery or a serious hospitalization can lead to slower recovery or even readmission to the hospital. Family members often become caregivers for their loved ones and take on the task of caring for them, but quickly discover they are ill-prepared or untrained to meet the physical and emotional challenges of this kind of care. Comfort Keepers is here to help. We offer an array of in-home care services to ease the transition home.

Veterans In-Care

Veterans or surviving spouses of veterans in need of in-home care may qualify for benefits through the Veterans Administration. Comfort Keepers is proud to serve those who have served our nation. We assist veterans and their spouses in the application process and provide in-home care services for approved participants in VA programs.

End of Life In-Care

When a family member is diagnosed with limited-life expectancy, he or she often has a strong desire to spend the final days in the comfort of their own home. However, providing end of life care can be emotionally challenging and physically exhausting for a family caregiver. We can help. Comfort Keepers can support you and your loved one by working with a hospice agency or medical provider to fully meet the family's end of life care needs. We will help care for your loved one and help around the house as well as provide the family with emotional and moral support through this difficult time.

Local, Professional and Trained Caregivers

There are plenty of people who can become a caregiver, however; only a select few can achieve the status of becoming a Comfort Keepers caregiver.

We believe your loved one deserves nothing less than the most compassionate, professional, and educated caregiver for their in-home care needs. In fact, only 1 in 10 of all caregivers who contact us for employment actually becomes a Comfort Keepers caregiver.

Before any Comfort Keepers caregiver is assigned a client, they are required to undergo our thorough caregiver training that is second to none. To ensure that our unsurpassed quality of in-home care is maintained over the span of a Comfort Keepers caregiver career, we conduct annual caregiving skill evaluations. In addition, ongoing training for all Comfort Keepers caregivers is required throughout the year. The training is conducted in our office, online and in the field including onsite visits by our Director of Nursing and Client Care Coordinators.

All Comfort Keepers® caregivers are employees and not independent contractors. This offers the ultimate peace of mind and protection for you and your loved one. Families don't realize the potentially liabilities and costs they take on by hiring a private caregiver. Comfort Keepers® eliminates the worries of possible unforeseen tax penalties and legal fees that can arise by hiring a private caregiver. Comfort Keepers is responsible for payroll taxes and all federal, state and local taxes including the required deductions such as FICA, Medicare, Social Security, and Unemployment Taxes. Additionally, Comfort Keepers maintains a comprehensive insurance portfolio including professional liability insurance, general liability insurance and workers' compensation insurance. All Comfort Keepers® caregivers are bonded and insured. Our Comfort Keepers® caregivers are insured to drive clients.

Consistency of in-home care is our goal. It can be frustrating having a revolving door of caregivers. We understand having the same caregivers is a key to having a good relationship. We believe our comprehensive approach to hiring and employing caregivers is the best in the in-home care industry. It would be an honor to show you the Comfort Keepers way!
